Graduate Students The University of Memphis offers Master's and Doctoral degrees in many disciplines through the University's various colleges and schools. Admission to the Graduate School is open to students who hold a bachelor's or master's degree from an accredited college or university. Graduate students are admitted to the University of Memphis through a cooperative effort of the Office of Admissions, the Office of Graduate Studies, and the departments, colleges and schools of the University. Over 20 percent of our students are currently engaged in graduate work.

The information on this page is specifically for graduate students (students who hold a bachelor's or master's degree). If you are applying as an international graduate student, please see International Students. If you are applying as a law student, you should visit the Cecil School of Law web site.
